Parata Complete

Workflow

How do scripts journey through your organization currently? Are there ways you could streamline that would free up staff to take on other tasks? Or that would offer up significant dollars saved? Intelligent automation seamlessly guides the workflow. We'll help you understand how a centralized workflow is different – and the many advantages it brings.

Conveyors vs No Conveyors

Do you have a need to move prescriptions using conveyor belts? Not everyone has the space – or the need to use a full-fledged conveyor system. And centralization can still be done without conveyors. We'll help assess what you need based on your size, space, and goals.

Inventory Management

Are you looking to consolidate high-cost or lower-use drugs? Centralization reduces overstocks, expirations, and duplicative inventory. You'll have perpetual inventory control, automatic reordering from the warehouse and wholesalers, visibility into totes and warehouse transfer orders.

Reporting & Analytics

Are you able to track your processes? Know how much time each prescription is taking to fill end to end? The reporting capabilities our solutions offer will help you understand the nuances of your centralized operations.

Sortation & Manifesting

How are you shipping or delivering medications to your locations? We'll examine your options and make recommendations about the best fit for your situation.

Dispensing Technologies

What types of filling are you doing? Do you want to increase medication adherence? Reduce errors? Offer more clinical services? We'll talk through what you're currently doing and what your automation goals are. Our complete portfolio of dispensing solutions – from vial filling to inspection to adherence packaging – allows us to explore a full range of possibilities for your organization.
